Installation

1. Double-click on the ISO Image to mount it in a virtual windows drive. Double click on the drive to open the installation screen. You can now view the content of the ISO Image and install Sequoia, additional software and the CodeMeter Runtime.

2. Choose the language in which you want to install Sequoia (Select language). In the language dialog window, you can choose between English, German, French, Italian and Spanish.

3. To begin the installation of Sequoia click on "Install program" > "Sequoia 16". Keep the USB Dongle inserted during the installation.

4. Follow the series of dialogs that appear by clicking "Continue" each time. If you choose the "User defined" installation, you can also specify the target folder for the program folder and select additional components for installation. In the selection screen, you will see the total required disc space for the installation.

5. After all files have been copied to the hard drive, confirm the end of the installation by clicking on "Finish". After the initial installation, you can start the program via the Windows "Start" menu or the desktop shortcut. After installation, you can add or remove components by starting this installation program again and selecting "Custom" to select or deselect the respective components.

Copy Protection

Sequoia features hardware copy protection (dongle) which has to be registered when the program is started for the first time. The dongle enables usage of the program on different systems (but not simultaneously), without having to register each computer separately.
